Safe handling of your personal data

Your trust is important to us and we want you as a customer to feel safe to provide personal information to us.

The General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) is a new EU regulation that replaces the Swedish Personal Data Act (PUL). This means that the current provision regarding the processing of your personal data is terminated under general terms and conditions. Much is alike, but the demands on how we process your personal data are sharpened.

GDPR will enter into force on May 25, 2018 and apply throughout the EU

We will take steps to ensure that your personal information is handled in accordance with the requirements of GPDR. Our purpose of saving your information is to try to sell our service to you. We will not disclose your personal information to third parties.
